Subject: Weekly Summer Report
Date: May 11, 2009

One of the highlights of my week was that it was my birthday on Wednesday (May 6) last week.

Through this week, I have been able to catch up on all the email that I have neglected through the exam season. Finally I have my inbox under control. As well as tying up loose ends from the end of the year. Throughout the week, and through all the weeks, I will be attending meetings with various parties around campus.

One of the biggest things that happened this week was a full clean of J-5. For those of you that don't know what that is, it is a small (but not that small) storage area in the basement of Clark Hall where we have, in the past, stored stuff that should have been thrown out. It had become an unusable area where nothing could be found...ever. The cleaning took a solid day with many trips up and down the basement stairs. Through all this work, we have managed to make the space usable.

Later this month, the Exec/Director Team will be submitting their final Strategic and Year Operating Plans. The general organization of the team was initialized with deadlines and templates.

Clark was up and running this week with its' first summer ritual where I helped set up Clark for the new managers first opening. It was a success last week with a large number of attendees. This bodes well for Clark to be open for a few more weeks.

At the end of last week, I started the State of the Society Report which will encompass my view of the Society as it stands in its projects and goals. This should be completed early this week for everyone to see.

Meetings

- Career Services
- Campus Security
- Dean of Applied Science
- Knowledge and Problem Solving Working Group

Over the next week I plan to complete the State of the Society report and begin the cleaning of the Tom Harris Student Lounge. There are many meetings with the Operations Committee reviewing the academic results of the past year as well as I will be attending AMS training on a few different subjects. These are to ensure that I can accumulate enough knowledge to properly do the job you have elected me for.
